from his first novel The Intuitionist in 1999 Colson Whitehead has produced fiction that brilliantly blurs genre and cultural lines to demonstrate the universal angst and integral bonds shared by all Americans by neglecting to mention a character's racial heritage Whitehead challenges the cultural assumptions of his readers his African American protagonists are well educated and upwardly mobile and thus lack some of the social angst that is imposed by racial stratification despite the critical acclaim and literary awards Whitehead has received there have been few in depth examinations of his work in Colson Whitehead the Postracial Voice of Contemporary Literature Kimberly Fain explores the work of this literary trailblazer discussing how his novels reconstruct the American identity to be inclusive rather than exclusive and thus broaden the scope of who is considered an American Whitehead attempts this feat by including African Americans among the class of people who may achieve the American dream assuming they are educated and economically mobile while the conflicts faced by his characters are symptoms of the universal human condition they assimilate at the expense of cultural alienation and emotional emptiness in addition to the Intuitionist Fain also examines John Henry Days Apex Hides the Hurt the Colossus of New York Sag Harbor and Zone One demonstrating how they bend genre tropes and approach literary motifs from a Postracial perspective comparing the author to his African American and American literary forebears as well as examining his literary ambivalence between Post Blackness and Postracialism Colson Whitehead offers readers a unique insight to one of the most important authors of the twenty first century as such this book will be of interest to scholars of African American literature American literature African American studies American studies multicultural studies gender studies and literary theory

Postcolonial Justice addresses a major issue in current postcolonial theory and beyond namely the question of how to reconcile an ethics grounded in the reciprocal acknowledgment of diversity and difference with the normative if not universal thrust that appears to energize any notion of justice the concept of postcolonial justice shared by the essays in this volume carries an unwavering commitment to difference within and beyond europe while equally rejecting radical cultural essentialisms which refuse to engage in utopian ideals of convivial exchange across a plurality of subject positions such utopian ideals can no longer claim universal validity as in the tradition of the european enlightenment instead they are bound to local frames of speaking from which they project world
